Canadian schoolteacher gets slap on the wrist — for looking up the dresses of 50 women

SHOE-CAM man is making headlines around the world.

. . . WITH A TINY VIDEO CAMERA IN HIS WINGTIP!

by JACK ALEXANDER / Weekly World News

TORONTO, Canada — A clever sicko escaped with a slap on the wrist for peeping up the skirts of 50 unsuspecting young cuties — using a video camera hidden in his shoe.

Retired schoolteacher George W. Campbell, 65, was sentenced to 10 months probation and 150 hours of community service after pleading guilty to mischief in an Ontario court.

The ingenious weirdo could have gone to prison for 10 years for sneaking up behind girls at a crowded outdoor fair here and aiming his shoe-tip camcorder up their skirts as they leaned over to play a midway game.

Campbell, an industrial arts teacher and tool and die maker, used his knowledge of the trade to modify a camera so that he could photograph from a lens placed in a size 12 shoe. The lens peeped out at one of the small decorative holes in the shoe. A wire ran from the lens up the person's pant leg to a camera in a waist pack.

PEEKING UP girl's skirts should have sent George Campbell to prison for 10 years, but a wimpy judge only gave him 18 months probation.

Campbell would slip up behind a shapely young woman who was standing over to throw a ring or shoot a rifle and slide his foot along the ground until it was under her skirt. Cops said he victimized scores of women and collected approximately eight hours of videotape that way.

His sleazy fun came to an end when a woman spotted Campbell putting his foot between the legs of a friend who was leaning over to play a midway game.

The woman and her boyfriend followed Campbell around the midway and saw him do the same thing to other unsuspecting young women.

They called the cops who confronted Campbell, and the rest is history.

GIRL RAISED BY ALLIGATORS IN FLORIDA EVERGLADES!

By KEVIN CREED
Weekly World News

NAPLES, Fla. — A 10-year-old girl who was raised among alligators has been found in the Everglades — and the strange child can swallow live mice, crush bones with her teeth and stay underwater for 20 minutes at a time!

The girl was found 12 miles from Interstate 75, just north of Big Cypress National Preserve, by two fishermen. She is now being held for study at a secret laboratory on Florida's west coast.

"This remarkable child is living, breathing evidence that human beings can 'learn' reptilian traits just by being exposed to reptiles for a prolonged period of time," says noted biologist Dr. Maurice Wentworth, who estimates her age to be about 10. "Apparently, she was abandoned or wandered away into the Everglades at a very early age. She survived by imitating the behavior of the glades' most successful species: The alligator. She adapted the alligator characteristics the same way many people adapt new languages — by total immersion. She simply absorbed their ways by living among them and observing them."

Dr. Maurice Wentworth

Dr. Wentworth said the girl, known as "Annie" by the lab staff, often moves on all fours. She can slow her metabolism

HOME SWEET HOME! Annie, about 10 years old, survived in Florida's Everglades by imitating alligators.

GATOR-GIRL Annie's diet consists of live mice and hunks of raw meat and fowl — bones and all know what to feed her so we had to improvise," said the respected expert.

"She would only eat live mice, hunks of raw fowl — bones and all — or raw meat."

Dr. Wentworth, 48, says he's keeping the child comfortable by providing everything she's grown used to in the wild, hoping to slowly ease her into civilized life.

"She spends most of her time underwater," he said. "She toward us is rather unpredictable.

"The human side of her is warm and, like any other child, hungry for affection.

"But then, suddenly, without warning, she'll snap at us like a frightened reptile when we try to hug her.

"It's going to take awhile but I feel sure she'll adapt to modern life eventually."

Dr. Wentworth plans to present Annie to the med-

There are 10 things a wife should NEVER tell her husband

By LYNN OAKLEY / Weekly World News

. . . says expert

There are 10 things a wife should NEVER tell her mate — because total honesty can often destroy rather than build a healthy relationship, says an expert.

Here are the things a wife should never say to her husband, according to Dr. Michael Lilliebridge, a psychologist, marriage therapist and author of The Love Book for Couples:

1 "I told you so." It damages a man's self-esteem to imply that you're smarter. Men don't like to have their intelligence attacked by their wives.

2 "Boy, am I a dummy!" It's terribly burdensome for a man to constantly hear about things you've done wrong. Your urge to confess as a way of seeking sympathy when you've goofed is likely to backfire and cause anger.

3 "You were better looking when . . ." Men are as sensitive as women about their appearances, and most don't want to be compared unfavorably with anyone — not even their former selves.

4 "You have no feelings." Men have been conditioned to remain cool and rational, but they have the same feelings you do and will be hurt if you say they don't.

5 "You'll never guess what your mother told me." He'll resent you being privy to family matters not revealed to him.

6 "You don't really love me." No man enjoys being nagged into reassurances of his love, and most resent repeated demands to "prove" their feelings.

7 "I think Mike is really attracted to me." You can never be sure how a man will react when his jealousy is aroused. Some men might retaliate with flirtations of their own.

8 "Promise you won't tell a soul." If you pass along details of a friend's private life, your mate may suspect that you've "traded" secrets of your own for those details — and that might jeopardize his trust.

9 "You're too good." If you're angry, tackle the issue without resorting to put-downs.

10 "I don't know what to do — tell me." This puts him up for blame if things go wrong. Make decisions and take responsibility for them.

EAGLE SNATCHES CHIHUAHUA — when dog goes out to do his business!

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION shows tiny pooch in the clutches of a hungry eagle

By JACK ALEXANDER
Weekly World News

VALDEZ, Alaska — A couple of tourists let their yappy little Chihuahua out to relieve himself at a gas station — and watched dumbfounded as an eagle swooped down, snatched up the pooch and flew away.

"It was the damnedest thing I ever saw," said station attendant Dennis Fleming. "It happened right over there, by the car wash."

The unidentified tourists — in their 40s — had pulled their motor home into the station, to gas up. The woman let her dog out for a run while her husband wiped off the windshield.

The mutt was within five feet of their motor home when the great American bald eagle flew down from a nearby tree and snared the tiny dog with his razor-sharp talons.

Before the shocked couple could react, the eagle was up, up and away with his lunch.

"The dog gave one yelp and that was it," Fleming said. "It was all over in an instant."

The horror-stricken woman clutched her hands to her face and cried, "Oh, my God," as she watched her beloved pet being whisked away. But her hubby didn't seem too broken up about the dog's demise.

He walked around the side of the camper out of sight of his wife, grinned and yelled, "Yes! Yes!"

"He was waving his fist in the air as if rooting for the eagle," Fleming said.

FAT PEOPLE LESS LIKELY TO DIE VIOLENTLY, SAYS NEW STUDY

By JUNE SAWYER, Weekly World News

Good news for chubsters! Fat people are much less likely to suffer violent deaths than skinny folks, an eye-opening study reveals.

"I find the results startling!" said Dr. Kenneth Warner, who conducted the study for the Alabama Department of Forensic Sciences.

Since roughly 26 percent of the population is overweight, Dr. Warner expected about one out of every four violent death victims to be overweight.

But surprisingly, of those who died violently only 12 percent were overweight.

Dr. Warner isn't sure of the reason behind the different violent death rates for fat and thin people but he speculates that variations in lifestyles play a key role.

For example, overweight people could be at less risk because they aren't as likely as thin people to engage in dangerous sports such as skydiving or hot-air ballooning.

In addition, murder victims tend to be younger and young people are less likely to be obese than older people.

Overweight people may also have different social habits, explained Dr. Warner. "Maybe they don't go to bars as much and are less likely to be shot in bars."

For the study, an overweight person was defined as someone who is at least 10 percent over their ideal body weight, a widely used measure of obesity.

Ants destroy evidence in murder case!

MEXICO CITY — A 10-month-old murder investigation suffered a major setback after thousands of ants invaded a police station — and ate the evidence!

"Much of the evidence consisted of clothes and bed sheets soaked with the blood of the victim and her attacker. We believe that was what attracted the ants," said Det. Raul Garcia. "This very well could make it impossible to get a conviction in this case."

ANTI-SEX SPRAY!

Teenage girls using 'SNUB!' pet scent — to keep frisky boys from pawing them!

ABOVE: Terri Nelson sprays a friend from head to toe with the amazing anti-mating spray prior to going out on a date

By CHARLES GEORGE
Weekly World News

CHICAGO — Girls have found a way to keep frisky boyfriends from constantly pawing them during dates — by using a spray that's designed to keep animals from breeding!

The product is called Snub! and it's been used by animal owners for years to control their pets. Now clever girls are using it to keep the guys at bay.

"It used to be I couldn't even go out for a hamburger with a guy without it turning into a wrestling match with me fighting to keep his hands off my body," pretty coed Terri Nelson said. "Now I just spray this stuff on myself before I go out and there's nothing to worry about.

"And the guy doesn't even know I've sprayed the stuff on me," she said. "It just has some chemical in it that keeps guys from getting too excited."

Terri said she first saw the stuff when she was on her grandfather's farm.

"I asked him what it was for and when he told me he used it on dogs when they're in heat, I thought, 'Hey, this is exactly what I need,' " she said. "I bought a can and it really worked. Now I share my secret with all my friends."

Terri said Snub! allows her to be in total control.

"There are some times when I'm with a guy that I want some action but other times I want him to keep his hands off," Terri said. "With Snub!, I decide when it's time — and the guy doesn't know what I'm doing."

Terri ended up telling one boyfriend, Bill Capert, that she was using Snub! and he was furious.

"He was mad as hell when I told him," Terri said. "He wouldn't even walk to the car with me and when she got in the car I didn't want her to get near me," he said.

"My parents weren't home that night and I was kind of hoping to take Terri back to the house.

"But for some reason, I just lost the feeling," he said. "She eventually told me she'd sprayed that stuff on herself.

MANNHEIM, Germany — Talk about sick! A bizarre new art exhibit on display at a museum here features statues made from real human corpses!

The bodies have been preserved using a technique called plastination, then fashioned into eye-catching modern art.

One statue, titled The Runner, is a man frozen in mid-stride, his corpse stripped of everything but bones and muscles.

His muscles appear to fly backward dramatically from

Talk show host Jenny Jones confesses:

I'M AS SCREWED-UP AS MY GUESTS!

LEVELHEADED OR OUT OF CONTROL? Jenny Jones.

Q My favorite talk show host, Jenny Jones, always seems so balanced and levelheaded. She's a perfect contrast to her wacky guests. Her childhood must have been something straight out of Leave It To Beaver. Right?
— Marcia L., Zanesville, Ohio

A Far from it. Jenny says she comes from a "dysfunctional" home and can relate to most of her screwed-up guests' problems. "I could be one of the teens on 'Out of Control Teens.' My parents could be on 'I Survived an Affair.'" she admits. "I truly am one of my guests."

Q I'm going to be visiting Hollywood for a few weeks and I plan on dating some stars (trust me, I have the looks). I'm particularly interested in going out with Wesley Snipes. Any hints on how to approach him?
— Tara D., Gastonia, N.C.

A Be sure that you brush up on your reading — because the macho star goes gaga over brainy bookworms. "I like a woman who reads," says Snipes, who's divorced. "I think a number of my relationships landed because she didn't read and we didn't have anything to talk about."

Q I've heard that Melanie Griffith's mom Tippi Hedren won't stand her daughter's husband Antonio Banderas and refuses to call him by name, referring to him as "that Spaniard." True or false?
— George T., Columbus, Ohio

A False. Tippi, the heroine of Alfred Hitchcock's classic thriller The Birds, is crazy about her daughter's Latin hunk hubby — and thinks he's the world's sexiest man! "He's a real man, a wonderful husband and father," she says.

Q Did Eli Wallach George Clooney have a torrid affair with Lynda Day George, the blonde beauty who used to star on TV's Mission: Impossible?
— Melissa B., Concord, Mass.

A Clooney, 36, never bedded Lynda, 61 — but he developed a huge crush on her the first time they met — when he was just 11! Lovely Lynda was in Cincinnati to appear on a local TV show hosted by George's father Nick Clooney. Dad Nick told People magazine George "couldn't speak for the rest of the day. I swear, that's when he went changed!"

Q My favorite performance of all time is Elvis Presley. I was wondering, who is HIS favorite performer of all time?
— Billie T., Abilene, Texas

A There's no doubt in the country singer's mind. Her idea of a dream night out would be to go see The King perform live. "If I could go to any concert, it would be Elvis," Tanya told an Arizona newspaper. And the sentiment also was true vice versa. Elvis thought Tanya was the perfect date. The King of Kings "I would love to spend an evening with Jenny," she says.

Q Is it true that classy British actress Elizabeth Hurley, actor Hugh Grant's girlfriend, worked for several years as an agent for M-I-6, the supersecret British counterespionage organization?
— Brian C., Toronto, Canada

A Lovely Liz, who recently appeared in the spy spoof Austin Powers, swears she is not now, nor has she ever been, a real-life secret agent.

"I've always wanted to be a spy — and frankly I'm a little surprised that British Intelligence has never approached me," the sexy brunette says.

10 easy ways to tell if your neighbor worships Satan!

ROME, Italy — Chances are one out of 10 that the guy next door is a Satanist!

That's the shocking conclusion of researcher Dr. James Phillips of Birmingham, England, a British expert in the occult. He says that millions of ordinary citizens are, in fact, devil-worshippers — and they represent a danger to every God-fearing man, woman and child!

By ULA SCHWANDT
Weekly World News

"I'm quite certain that it's at least 10 percent of the population — maybe more," said Dr. Phillips. "We're talking about men and women from all walks of life — Satanism everywhere.

"I have treated victims of these people and if you listen to what they have to say you will see that it's a major problem.

"The terror of the victims is incredible. They are too frightened to speak out, and if they do they're written off as cranks."

Phillips' astounding estimate makes it possible that as many as 25 million Americans are worshipping Satan, and that means that most of us come into contact with Satanists every day without knowing it.

The good news is that there are ways to identify devil-worshippers, so you can avoid them and protect your family. Here, according to experts in the occult, are seven of the surefire signs of Satanism:

1 They come and go at odd hours, especially late at night and just before dawn.

2 They never attend church or celebrate religious holidays.

3 They often have no visible means of support, yet live well.

4 They carry strange bags and bundles, never revealing the contents.

5 They rarely laugh, or laugh under the wrong circumstances — for example, when a child is hit by a car.

6 They are often openly interested in magic tricks or the occult.

7 They may excite animals, at least as children and adults.

8 They are not afraid of blood — in fact, they seem fascinated by it.

9 They collect weird things, such as animal skeletons or fingernail clippings.

10 They tend to dress expensively, even on hot weather, as if they consciously feel clothes

MILLIONS of ordinary citizens are devil-worshippers — and they represent a danger to every God-fearing man, woman and child.

'MANAGER OF THE YEAR' SPANKED EMPLOYEES!

LAUNAC, France — A lady boss was forced to return a "Manager of the Year" award — after it was revealed that she spanked her employees!

Sales manager Michelle Aubert, 38, beat out 58 other supervisors at the Marquois Food Co. to win the coveted award earlier this year. But last week a sales assistant accused Miss Aubert of spanking underlings, both male and female, whenever they failed to meet their sales quota.

Miss Aubert initially denied the charges then admitted they were true.

She defended her actions, saying, "I've found that most employees prefer this form of discipline over demotions or a cut in pay."

The slap-happy supervisor has been suspended pending an internal investigation, say company officials.

CHERBOURG, France — A chess master destroyed a $72,000 computer, pounding it with his fists and kicking it relentlessly — because it beat him three straight games!

German Grand Master Victor Kittlekropt had been invited here by the French Chess Society for a five-game match with the stunning Quoros — that. 'The computer hasn't been made that can beat me.' But 13 spectators at the first game saw Quoros win easily in 17 moves.

But the next day, Quoros won in a mere 11 moves.

After taking a pounding in the press, Kittlekropt arrived for the third game rested and ready. But this time the machine, playing black, employed the aggressive Sicilian defense and more Kittlekropt down in 31 moves.

PETS REALLY DO GO TO HEAVEN

. . . and [redacted] expert has proof!

By JASON MARIS, World News Agency

All the cherished pets you've ever loved and lost will be there to greet you — when you die and go to Heaven!

That's the welcome news from Dutch theologian Werner Staam, who says those who've returned from life after-death experiences have confirmed that dogs, cats, goldfish, parakeets — all of man's faithful pets — do go to Heaven after they die.

"And it's the same Heaven that you and I will go to after we die," the 56-year-old researcher said from his home in Rotterdam.

"Of course, that's if we've lived the kind of life that will allow us to pass through the gates of Paradise."

The retired religious scholar says he's interviewed more than 300 people who've died and visited Heaven before returning to the realm of the living.

THEOLOGIAN Werner Staam

"My interviews have provided me with an extraordinarily evidence that not only do all pets go to Heaven, but the pets — especially dogs and cats — [illegible] welcome [illegible] owners into the Heavenly realm.

"And really, it should be no surprise that our pets go to Heaven. The Lord loves all living creatures. He put on this Earth. Dogs, for example, are mentioned over and over in the Bible. And there is other evidence that HEAVEN plays a key role in the Lord's scheme of things. St. Francis of Assisi, the founder of the Franciscan monks, would bless the animals and he was often seen preaching to the birds."

Dr. Staam said a history professor at a prestigious American university who was declared dead on the operating table gave this vivid account of his 20-minute visit to Heaven:

"When I died, I found myself in a field of light that got bigger and bigger and I could hear dogs barking. They sounded very happy.

"The light got brighter and brighter and I could make out some shapes moving toward me. When they got near I could see they were little dogs — my dogs. They were the dogs that I had owned over my lifetime. They had come to greet me at the gates of Heaven.

"We had a wonderful time. But then I felt something tugging at me — pulling me back to the living. I didn't belong in Heaven yet.

"But now, I don't dread death the way I did before. I know now that pets DO go to Heaven," said the professor.

CIRCUS SHOCKER!

BERLIN — A would-be high-wire walker at a circus training school died after falling off a tightrope — only 12 inches off the ground!

"The rope is called a 'learning wire' because it's intended to allow the performer to learn high-wire skills without risk," said Klaus Gerdts, head of the school. "It was just a freak accident."

The student, Rudolf Krueger, 20, hit his head on the concrete floor and died of a concussion.

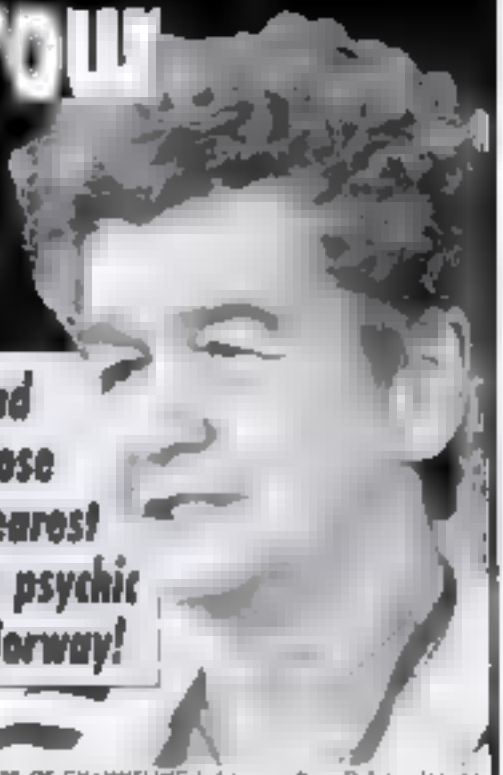
PSYCHIC REVEALS THE SECRETS OF TV CHANNELING

Contact your dead loved ones by using your television!

An ordinary television set can help almost anybody communicate with loved ones who have passed on, says a famed psychic



'The dead are as close as the nearest TV,' says psychic Dolores Jorway!

YEARS OF CHANNELING led two mothers Dolores Jorway to her astounding television technique. Now she shares her astounding knowledge with NEWS readers

By RANDY JEFFRIES

DULUTH, Minn. — A noted psychic says you can contact the spirits of departed friends and loved ones — using your television!

"The dead are as close as the nearest TV," says the psychic Dolores Jorway who did. All you need to do is learn how to reach out and touch them with TV channeling.

For more than 10 years Mrs. Jorway has given comfort to grieving people, acting as a go-between for the living and the dead.

But it was only recently that she discovered her unique psychic power, says Mrs. Jorway.

"And people can do it, too, with their own television sets," she says.

Here's how YOU can reach a dead friend or family member

● Find a time and place where you won't be disturbed — ideally, alone in your home at 2:00 a.m. when spirits are most active.

● Turn your TV on to a channel that has no programming on it.

● Make sure the volume is just loud enough to fill the room with a droning "hiss." Then relax and watch the on-screen lines and dots.

Let your eyes stay unfocused and just watch quietly.

● Before long you will begin to hear a faint voice in the static. Or you may notice a pattern in the lines on the screen that seems to form a face.

Don't be frightened — it will happen and it will — it's important to stay relaxed. It can be frightening when a departed spirit is reaching out to you. But if you panic and tighten up, you'll scare them away.

Gradually, the person's image will get clearer and clearer. Remember, it may take an hour or two.

Some people have to return and keep trying for several weeks. But be patient and believe.

Expect it to happen and it will.

When you see your loved one clearly, you'll be able to speak with him or her and he will be able to hear you.

Mrs. Jorway says she has contacted with the living if they're just given the right help. The technique gives great comfort to people who have lost loved ones.

MARTHA STEWART IS THE PERFECT ROLE MODEL FOR AMERICAN WOMEN!

I'm madder than a lesbian [redacted] a busted Harley over [redacted] the [redacted] that top TV housewife Martha Stewart has to put up with.

Those yappy women's libbers and talk show hosts are squealing bloody murder because Martha Stewart preaches that women ought to do the things they are good at -- skills like cooking, sewing, crafts, laundry and washing dishes.

And most women who don't have their bras hooked too tight will agree with me.

Let's face it. The dog-eat-dog world that men work in every day is no place for a woman and it never has been, for crying out loud.

If we needed women to work, then why in hell did they stay at home for 100 years while men built this great nation from the ground up?

Oh sure. A few heavyweight gals shot rivets into airplanes back in WWII. But those gals could swing a 12-lb hammer like John Henry, if you get my drift.

But the real reason I think that this Martha Stewart Living TV show ought to be required viewing is that it teaches little girls what they REALLY should be when they grow up.

America needs devoted, highly skilled housewives now more than ever.

And if we don't get our ladies back in the house where they belong, who is going to operate the high-tech dishwashers, Dustbusters and microwaves us men will be inventing in the future?

I mean, those things aren't the easiest things to turn on if you don't know what you're doing.

But most importantly, women are happier when they stay at home and putter around the house -- and Martha Stewart has the smile to prove it. You don't see her trotting off to work every day, by jiminy!

She looks more contented than the Carnation cow if you're old enough to remember those ads. Besides, if God had meant for women to hold full time jobs, He'd have made 'em stronger or smarter.

Martha Stewart might not be a rocket scientist, but she's pretty as a picture and handy around the house -- where it counts.

World's smartest 3-year-old has 504 I.Q.!

She creates computer programs, solves calculus problems in her head & reads 'Weekly World News'!

By MIKE FOSTER

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Little Courtney Chapman is the world's smartest 3-year-old — the amazing tot has an astronomical I.Q. of 504!

Remarkably, her parents say they first learned they had a super-genius on their hands when they saw her reading Weekly World News at just 18 months.

"At first we thought she was simply playing at reading the paper," revealed Courtney's proud mom Sara, 27. "Then she started reciting the stories out loud and we realized that she understood every single word!"

Harvard researchers who've tested Courtney say her phenomenal I.Q. makes her as intelligent as three Albert Einsteins -- and that her score is the highest ever recorded. By contrast, the average adult has an I.Q. of just 100.

The brainy youngster can already:

- Solve complex calculus problems — in her head.
- Spell difficult words such as "dialingentiouanvers."
- Speak Spanish, French and German fluently.
- Create her own intricate computer programs.

For pleasure, Courtney spends her days reading books a week, and already has Milton's Paradise Lost, James Joyce's Ulysses and Immanuel Kant's Critique of Pure Reason under her belt.

"But her favorite reading material is still the NEWS," said her mom, a waitress. "She never misses a single issue."

Sara and her truck driver husband suspected early on that their daughter might be a little "different" from other kids her age.

"At 6 months she was already saying 'Mommy' and 'Daddy' and Courtney could walk on her own by 9 months," said Sara.

But it wasn't until she stunned her parents by reading the NEWS aloud that they had her I.Q. tested at a local college.

Now they've hired a private tutor to help the little genius reach her full potential. "We hope that she'll be able to enter college by age 7 and graduate before she's 10," said Sara.

At the same time, Courtney is so many ways a normal girl who loves to giggle, play with Barbie dolls and take bubble baths.

And her dream is not to be a nuclear physicist or brain surgeon. She says: "I want to be an advice columnist, like Dear Dotti!"

me at 63!

"I let my 100%-untouched photographs do the talking for me. But skeptics, particularly women my age, see them and [redacted] back': 'No Plastic Surgery?' they'll write in. 'C'mon – you must be on your second or third face lift – admit it.' Or, 'What do you do – go to spas and salons and get made up with fancy beauty treatments all the time?' Or, 'What's your real secret, trick photography? So what else is new?' Well listen everyone, first of all: You couldn't pay me to have plastic surgery. (Of course, I suppose it would be [redacted] and constant traveling [redacted] little time [redacted] for pampering myself [redacted] look again at my pictures. What you see is what you get [redacted] like pic on the right, in person. Believe me.) Third: My 'real [redacted] to why my skin looks no different today than 20 years ago is [redacted] to-do' what I now officially call my ANTI-AGE LIFELIFT.

Who were my first 'guinea [redacted]' on this 'experimental' revolutionary [redacted]? Uh, isn't an experiment any [redacted] and-aging [redacted] benefits. And I believe most of them [redacted] off just as astonishing photos as mine.

"My ANTI-AGE LIFELIFT works so well (I've never known it not to work), I'm able to guarantee the Lifelift every which way: Try it for a month. If not impressed — your cost is zero. And I don't stop there. If that's not good enough for consumer-skeptical you, how about this:

"Now I am not going to kid you. I'm not in the charity business. As a [redacted], I'm interested in losing money. So believe me. I make this seemingly outrageously 'risky' no-strings offer on my part only to get your attention. Oh, I'll honor the offer – you have my sworn guarantee in this [redacted]. But I know how good my ANTI-AGE LIFELIFT is. So I'm willing to make this reckless move to prove I can change your looks and your life. (One so often follows the other, right?)

"Now it's show and tell time. Who am I anyway? Let me introduce myself. I'm Vikki LaMotta. You know me from my own National TV Show. Also you may have seen me on the Phil Donahue Show, Regis Philbin, etc. And I posed for Playboy in an Over-40 feature. [redacted] maybe you could spot some of my hundreds of thousands of virtually "baby-faced" customers, too, if you looked around carefully.

NOTE: Many of my Lifelift users aren't telling. They want people to think they're ten, fifteen years younger than they are, and who can blame them. In other words, there could be one or more Lifelifters among your friends and acquaintances – without your knowing it. Really. Think about it. (Since we are all vain on the subject of appearance, I say, more power to them. May they always keep their precious secret – and live to be over a hundred with it.)

"Well and good. I can hear you saying right about now. Words, words, words. What you want to know is, what's this so-called ANTI-AGE LIFELIFT all about and what exactly does it do? Fine. But before I tell you precisely what it does [redacted] understand how my Lifelift formula was made up for me: I turned to a prestigious state-of-the-art applied-science laboratory of the first rank. I demanded from [redacted] research personnel special attention to my requirements for an anti-aging skin formula that would take what I [redacted] up with privately. And make it better. I didn't want my skin appearance to really age. The opposite: I wanted to turn back long story short, I got my ANTI-AGE LIFELIFT. You've read this far. Now here's the part you've been waiting for:

"Do you know my [redacted] scientifically tested and proven to temporarily erase no less than 50% (FIFTY PERCENT) to 90% (NINETY PERCENT) of all – yes all – fine lines around lips, down to the chin, smile lines, crow's feet around the eyes. And it lasts all day or all night (8 - 9 hours). Understand I couldn't say any of this if it wasn't true. But let me go beyond that. .. You want to see a demonstration with your own eyes now? You got it.

"On the right above is a living demonstration of what I mean. By saying my Lifelift was TESTED OUT to work with a special [redacted] - 90% effectiveness. She is Case #73, June, Age 69.

"THE DEMONSTRATION TOOK ALL OF 90 SECONDS. 50% - 90% Success (see above) Achieved.

"Photo A shows the half of her face untouched by the ANTI AGE LIFELIFT. Photo B shows the effects of the [redacted] after 90 seconds. A 69-year-old suddenly looking unbelievably years younger. The precise number obviously being subjective, a matter for personal interpretation. But I would say Case #73 achieved, as a subject almost hitting 70, a fifty-to-ninety-year-[redacted] appearance (where half of her was [redacted] 'speed-treated' – lasting the full day or [redacted]. Lifelifted for all the world to see with their own eyes.

Top model makes $1 million a year showing off her cottage cheese thighs!

LOVELY Helen Tately is a hot ticket in the fashion world. Her hefty legs have put her on top of the industry.

BIG AND BEAUTIFUL Helen's livelihood depends on her pounds of ugly cellulite.

By KELLY TURNER, Weekly World News

BOSTON — Pretty Helen Tately makes $1 million a year modeling her least attractive "assets" — her cellulite-riddled thighs!

And far from hiding her hams when she's out in public, the 36 year old supermodel - who appears in advertisements for cellulite treatments the world over — wears micro mini skirts and other fashions that draw attention to her legs.

"Most women are embarrassed by cellulite but it's my bread and butter," said Miss Tately. "Instead of hiding it, I flaunt it.

"Hey — it earns me a million dollars every year."

Miss Tately didn't always feel so comfortable with her cellulite. When it began to develop a few years ago, she actually contemplated suicide.

"I've always been incredibly vain and when I first noticed that I was getting cellulite, I became deeply depressed and even thought about killing myself," she explained.

"But then I noticed an ad in the newspaper that promised modeling jobs for people with flaws.

"I really don't know why, but I sent in a picture of me in a bikini. A few days later I got a call asking me to come in for an interview. I thought it was a joke.

"I was so embarrassed I thought we'd cry — but I needed the money and agreed to do it. One thing led to another. Before I knew it, I had more work than I could handle.

"It sounds strange — but advertising agencies say I have 'perfect cellulite.' My ugly legs are in demand all over the world. I turn up in advertisements everywhere."

In fact, just about everybody who reads newspapers or magazines has seen Miss Tately's legs.

MILLION-DOLLAR GAMS: Helen earns megabucks from her dimpled shoulder thighs!

Her face has graced the pages of Vogue, Cosmopolitan and Glamour magazines. Her body has been featured in TV commercials for cellulite creams and exercise machines that promise to banish the dimpled flesh.

Miss Tately's agent, Jack Hanson, said he was amazed when he first saw her.

"I'd never seen anything like it," he said. "I knew right away that she was a natural for the job.

"Helen's legs are so bad that they're good. She's the perfect model for cellulite products."

Hanson said he has received offers from companies in the U.S., Europe and Japan to use Miss Tately's legs in their ads.

"Helen's been a big success in Europe and I'm sure she'll be a big success in the United States," he said.

Miss Tately said she's glad she's found a way to make money from her cellulite.

"I'm not sure I would have had the courage to do it if I hadn't been so desperate," she said. "In a way, I might not have had the fame, but I've got the money and I've been able to

Dear Furious in Oakland: I don't have anything against fat people in fact, some of my best friends is one of them.

Dear Puzzled in Dunsmuir: I like to be surprised, too — but not by every date — just by some dates.

Dear Angry in Fort Pierce: I didn't mean to imply that you were a "moron" — that's why I called you a knucklehead!

Dear Converted: If I were you, Mom, I wouldn't worry about it. After all, he could be playing with Ken dolls — and hanging out with the high [redacted] set!

We don't want our baby — how can we ditch her?

Dear Dotti: My husband and I had always dreamed of having a baby but now that we've got one we realize that we made an incredibly stupid mistake. Our daughter is constantly whining and crying and wetting up her diapers. What's more, because it's so expensive to feed her, buy her clothes and take her to the doctor, we can't go out to bars and go drinking or have fun anymore because we can't afford to go to the mall. She's got over a hundred of those dolls Dotti and he plays with them constantly. Is this normal? If not what do you think I should do? — Contemplating Suicide in Oak Ridge

Dear Contemplating: Yes, that's normal behavior for a baby. Now, what you should do is take a long, hard look in the mirror and ask yourself if you're really ready to be a parent. Dotti. — Chelsea in Oak Ridge

Dear Chelsea: You need professional help — and you need it quick. My God, girl, you don't just throw away a precious baby like it was a worn-out old shoe. Anybody who thinks they can is SICK.

Why don't [redacted] tell us your [redacted] name, Dotty?

Dear Dotty: I've been reading your column for a long, long time and I really do think it's great. I do wish you would do one thing for all us fans, however, and answer this question: Is "Dotty" your real name? — Wondering in Dundee

Dear Wondering: Don't be a nuisance. As the logo at the top of this page clearly shows, my name is Dotti — with an "i".

MOSCOW – Cosmonauts aboard the Mir space station recovered the remains of a [illegible] pilot after a UFO crashed into the [illegible] team of Russian scientists claimed at a press conference held here last week.

As photographers frantically snapped pictures and reporters clamored for more details, the experts publicly displayed the dehydrated blue-green corpse for the very first time.

"For months now the world has been led to believe that Mir is an outdated rust heap and our space program is a laughing stock," said Dr Kachmanov. "But now the truth can be told. Our brave cosmonauts have made what is perhaps the greatest discovery in the history of science.

"The creature was found in perfect condition and is remarkably similar to the experts revealed in the press conference which was not authorized by the Kremlin. It was about 4 feet 6 inches long, had a hairless head, a long, thin neck, three fingers and a tail. It was definitely male," said Dr Kachmanov. Dr Gennadi Manakov, expert scientist said: "It is like nothing we have seen before. It is like nothing on earth. It is like a reptile," said the expert.

The alien remained in suspended animation throughout the journey back to Earth. Its body was wrapped in a protective cocoon and was still in suspension when the ship docked with the Mir space station.

Initially, an examination of the alien body revealed that the creature had been killed by the impact of the collision with the UFO. But scientists are optimistic that the alien can be revived.

The scientists believe Pilot X may have already been ill at the time of the impact – and perhaps this is what caused the small triangular craft to go out of control.

The craft badly damaged after the UFO struck it and a gaping hole appeared, and is having shield the occupants' craft and the Mir space station from cosmic rays. Scientists are working on a plan to repair the craft and rescue the alien occupants, who are believed to be dead. They are now being examined.

A detailed description of the alien body will be released by Russian scientists in the next few days.

Heard the one about the bedroom Batman?

Have you heard the one about the Stolen Kidney . . . the Baby Train . . . or the Bedroom Batman?

If you haven't, then you're not up on those common "urban legends" — incredible stories that are accepted as fact, but never really took place.

"These experiences always seem to have happened to a friend of a friend — and they're passed on as gospel truth," said legends expert Jan Harold Brunvand, who collects such myths, usually started by daily newspaper reports or television news snapshots.

By JUNE SAWYER
Weekly World News

Here are a few of the most prevalent fables:

● The Stolen Kidney. A young man meets a beautiful girl in a bar and leaves with her. He wakes up in a seedy hotel room, naked and hooked to an intravenous drip. To his horror, he sees an incision in his abdomen, stitched with dental floss.

The man staggers to a hospital for help and a doctor tells him: "You've had one of your kidneys removed." Police agree — and tell the shocked victim: "They're in such demand there's a black market provision of $10,000 for a healthy kidney. There is the fifth case this month."

● The Baby Train. Researchers at a university enroll an unusually high pregnancy rate among married students living in a particular section of university housing. Puzzled, they investigated and found that a 1 a.m. train passing on schedule as it went by and woke up the students.

"It was too early to get up, so the couples made love instead — and the birth rate soared," Brunvand said.

● The Bedroom Batman. A man heard his woman neighbor screaming for help one night and rushed over to investigate. He found her tied to a bed. Unconscious on the floor next to her was her husband — dressed in a Batman costume.

The couple had been playing a game in which the Caped Crusader leaps from the dresser onto the bed. But he slipped and knocked himself out, leaving his wife helpless.

● Not Much of a Man. A mild-mannered truck driver was eating his meal at a truck stop when six burly Hell's Angels burst in. They stole the trucker's food and taunted him, but the trucker took it all meekly. Then he paid his bill and left.

One biker swaggered up to the cashier and taunted: "He's not much of a man, is he?" The cashier glanced out the window and replied: "Not much of a driver, either. He just backed his 18-wheeler over six motorcycles."

Wacky new fad — fat farms for chubby pets!

PALM BEACH, Fla. — Here's the latest wacky trend for wealthy pet-owners: Animal spas, where the rich take their pampered, pudgy pets to slim down!

One leading spa is the exclusive Village Animal Clinic in North Palm Beach, where pet owners pay between $100 and $300 a week for their overweight dogs, cats, birds and even domesticated white rats. There the animals are treated, put special diets and put on strict exercise routines until they're shapeshape!

Chocolate myth!

Despite the long-standing myth, chocolate is not a source of panic in teenagers, fascinating new studies reveal. In fact, experts say chocolate rarely if ever causes any type of allergic reaction in humans.

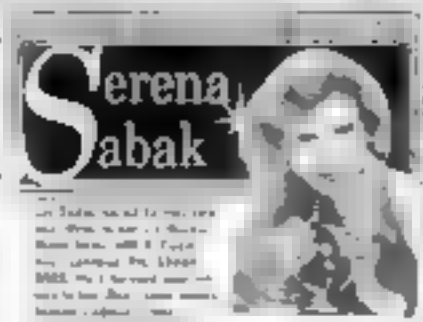
Who burns cookies in my kitchen at night?



Dear Serena: Once or twice a week I wake up to the smell of burning cookies in my house. The smell seems to be coming from the kitchen, but when I walk downstairs to check it out, the oven is cold and there's no evidence of cooking to be found.

What's going on, Serena? If I don't get answers soon I'm going to lose my mind. — Puzzled in Preston

Dear Puzzled: The spirit of the lady who owned your home before you is responsible for the nut-brown smells that make you up at night. She was a terrible cook but is still trying to perfect her skills in the hereafter. My crystal ball tells me that her spirit will vanish very early next month.

Dear Serena: Was I an American Indian in a previous life? I often dream of the Great Plains, buffalo and tepees and wonder if my subconscious mind is trying to tell me that I was an Indian before I was born into this life. — Dreaming in Austin

Dear Dreaming: You weren't an Indian in one previous life — you were an Indian in two previous lives. The first time you were a Cherokee living east of the Mississippi. In the second life you were a Pueblo living out west. Read all the books you can on both tribes and meditate daily for more insight and details.

Dear Serena: Please answer three questions for me: 1. Who stole my antique soup dish? 2. What happened to my car keys? 3. Why does my neighbor hate me? — Curious in Kansas City

Dear Curious: Your brother-in-law stole your antique soup dish. You can have one behind your washing machine. Your neighbor hates you because she knows that you poisoned her cat.

Dear Serena: Does my minister know I have a crush on him? Does he feel the same way about me? If I tell him how I feel will I end up so humiliated that I can never come back to church again or will we end up getting married? — Lovestruck in Kennesburg

Dear Lovestruck: He knows how you feel about him — he could also tell from the way you're dating another woman that you people in the congregation know about it — and is planning to leave the area and take a job in Missouri. My advice to you is to get back with your most recent boyfriend — he still loves you.

Dear Serena: What gave me food poisoning? My wife and I both were sick as dogs for two days and I know it was something we ate. Can you tell me what did it? — Recovered in Crowley

Dear Recovered: Your uncle used his bare hand to stir the seed corn — that's what made you sick. Don't say anything to him about it, he already feels terrible about what happened.

Dear Serena: My teen son was in a car wreck last week. There are several different stories about what happened and I frankly don't know who or what to believe. Did my son cause the wreck? Was he drinking? — Confused Mom in Oceanside

Dear Confused: Yes, your son had been drinking, but further testing, he wasn't driving. He was, however, letting his 14-year-old girlfriend drive his car, even though she doesn't have her license yet. He will be able to beat the drunk-driving charge but you need to help him address his proposal problems.

What is your secret message from the Orient this week? It's easy and fun to decipher. Here's the key to decoding your message:

If the number of letters in your first name is 3 or less, subtract that number from 7. If there are more than 3 letters in your first name, subtract the total from 11.

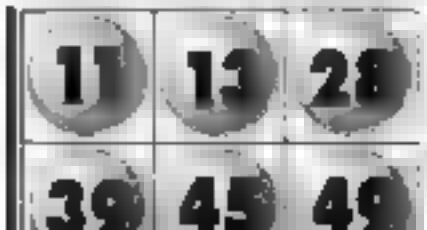
THIS WEEK'S SIX LUCKIEST LOTTERY NUMBERS:

CLIP & SAVE for YOUR WALLET



Mobile World News has purchased exclusive rights to the world's most powerful computer — and we use it to pick the six luckiest lottery numbers every week!

The Intra-tech computer called Delphi Seven, has the ability to calculate which lottery numbers are most likely to come up each week, based on previous performances and predicted variables. The numbers are good for the week the NEWS is on the newsstand.

The computer takes all numbers selected in lotteries across America over the past year to provide a statistical base for predicting future results. Above value is given to the most recently selected numbers.

Using all available data, the computer picks the most likely numbers for each week. In addition, it also selects a "wild card" number, which is the number most likely to be drawn in addition to the six winning numbers.

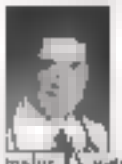
WEIGHT-LESS: Investigation of a Discovery

A Portland Physician Reveals How He Helped a Desperate Woman to Lose 47 Pounds in 9½ Weeks Without Dieting, and . . .

. . . how 3,193 other people melt away a total of more than 90,000 pounds [illegible] than 40 tons! with [illegible] same incredible discovery revealed below.

Dr. Robert R. Kaster, M.D.
(Portland, Maine)



Few discoveries have received as much attention as this one. It was broadcast on all major TV networks, including CNN, and was featured on the Good Morning America show. Plus hundreds of articles have been published in all leading newspapers and magazines, like the New York Times, the Wall Street Journal, USA Today, Newsweek, Time, and Life... to name a few.

It doesn't happen every day that someone makes such an interesting breakthrough. Researchers who had made this discovery spent several years at their lab developing and perfecting it. They then tested it on [illegible] people. And on the way they were:

- people from families in which excess weight was a problem.
- people who had already tried a total of 66 diets and methods of different kinds to lose weight!

Plus, these researchers asked them to do 3 things before starting:

(1) Not go on any diet and eat as usual.

(2) Do no more exercise than they had been doing before.

Naturally, these guys absolutely do not believe in rules. The results? They exceeded everything these researchers could imagine.

- More than 96% of these people lost weight. They lost a total of more than 90,000 pounds! That's more than 40 tons!! And the most astonishing

ROSWELL MYSTERY

Crashed actually machine future!

If you could clone the top 10 people in history — who would they be?

If you could create exact duplicates of the 10 greatest people in history, who would you choose?

Would it be "Honest" Abe Lincoln, Albert Einstein, Jesus Christ, Mahatma Gandhi, Adolf Hitler? Ever since a Scottish scientist revealed a year ago that he had cloned an adult sheep, it has been a question of "when" not "if" human cloning would become a reality.

Now, the Weekly World News is asking you to tell us who you would choose to clone if you had the chance.

Send us your historic selections. Mail them to Human Clones, c/o Weekly World News, 600 South East Coast Ave., Lantana, FL 33464. Or E-mail us at: cloning@weeklyworldnews.com.

Be sure to include your name, address and phone number. We'll publish the most interesting choices in a future issue.

Cloning has already produced a number of controversial results, including the birth of a baby girl in Britain who was created from the genetic material of three people.

Scientists have also created a number of identical animals, including a pair of calves named Alpha and Beta, and a pair of rhesus monkeys named Tetra and Dot.

Some scientists have even predicted that cloning will lead to the creation of identical children.

There are good ways and bad ways to break off a love relationship, says a leading psychologist.

"The good ways to say goodbye allow both parties to gain from the experience, while the bad ways just cause pain without gain," explained Dr. Howard Halpern,

SOLVED! UFO was a time from the

Wreckage bore wording 'Made in Greater America, 2458 A.D.'

COPYRIGHT 1995 WEEKLY WORLD NEWS

ROSWELL, N.M. — Contrary to popular belief, the mysterious disk-shaped craft that crashed near here on July 4, 1947, was NOT an alien spaceship. It was a time machine from our own future!

What's more, in the decades since U.S. Air Force personnel recovered the vehicle, government scientists have been using "reverse engineering" to build their own time machine — which they are now beginning to test at the top-secret Nevada research facility known as Area 51.

That is the astonishing theory of a leading mainstream physicist who says he has convincing new evidence that the flying saucer came from 25th-century Earth.

"Debris from the Roswell wreck — made of an unknown metal alloy — and markings on a handage witnesses could not identify," says Dr. Mel Woodham of Cambridge, Mass.

"With the assistance of a computer, my team has been able to decipher these marks, as sketched by an eyewitness who saw them on a small metal component.

"We have determined that they are a highly advanced form of English and state 'Made in Greater America, 2458 A.D.'"

The astonishing revelation comes just weeks after Weekly World News, in an exclusive story, reported that top-secret time travel experiments were being conducted in the mysterious Area 51 located on the grounds of Nellis Air Force Base, near Rachel, Nev.

The uncanny saga of the Roswell incident began more than 50 years ago when a local rancher discovered strange wreckage on his land and Air Force investigators were called in. The investigators stunned the nation when they initially told newspapers they had found the remains of a flying saucer.

EXPERT PSYCHIC! Dr. Mel Woodham

But the next day, under pressure from military brass, they did an about-face and declared that it had been nothing more than an ordinary weather balloon.

For years, UFO buffs have believed that the Air Force spirited away the wreckage and that it was taken to Area 51 for research.

Some Roswell residents even insist that the bodies of four small humanoid creatures — believed to be space aliens — were also recovered by the government.

Dr. Woodham says his time ship theory explains many of the mysteries involving Roswell and other so-called "alien" visits to Earth.

"Intelligent beings from space would almost certainly attempt to make contact with Earthlings," he notes.

"That is not at all the case with time travelers from the future, who may be conducting some kind of research by their government. If their trips to the past were uncovered, they might alter the course of their own history and endanger their present. That explains the secrecy surrounding their visits."

Descriptions of "aliens" by people who claim to have seen them fit evolutionary biologists' concept of what humans might look like in the future, says the scientist.

"The most common features reported are hairless bodies and bulbous heads — perhaps to accommodate larger brains."

The saucer shape of UFOs is also a key trait.

"Physicists believe the configuration best suited to withstanding the great gravitational forces created by a time warp would be a disk," he says.

Sexual attacks on women, widely reported by UFO abductees, couldn't be the work of real space aliens, who "would have no more interest in a human female than would a crocodile," adds Dr. Woodham. "But it is possible some of our human descendants will be capable of such behavior."

An Air Force spokesman denied that the government is involved in time travel experiments.

The DOs and DON'Ts of dumping your mate!

to call it quits, according to Dr. Halpern.

● Point out that it's not your partner's fault that you're saying goodbye, that there's nothing wrong with him or her. It's just that your feelings of love are no longer there.

● Explain that you have benefitted greatly and learned [illegible] and meaningful to you — but that it's time to move on.

● Tell your partner — and yourself — that there's no easy way to say goodbye and that you realize it will be a painful experience, but the pain will be only temporary.

And here are three bad ways to end a relationship with your partner:

● Don't make the other person wait through the grapevine to find out that your feelings for him or her have changed.

If you don't make the effort to tell your partner about it yourself, he or she will feel unworthy of being treated with respect — and this can really hurt.

● Keeping your ex-lover on the back burner. Some people think that if they don't completely break off with their partner, they can always go back to them if the new relationship doesn't work out very well.

You're being really selfish in letting your partner cling to false hopes, and it means that he or she won't be able to enter into new relationships with an open heart and mind.

● Trying to give that your partner is there when a relationship ends.

Be sure to be overly nice and too concerned for your partner's feelings when you say it's over.

By making it clear the relationship has ended once and for all, he or she will be better prepared to carry on

Siamese twin wins country music award!

READING, Pa. — This year's L. A. Music Award for best new country artist went to Reba Schappell — a Siamese twin who refuses to let anything stop her from living her dreams. And her twin sister Lori is just as determined to live a full and happy life!

Lori and Reba, 36, are joined at the head. Parts of their skulls and some of their blood vessels are fused together. But their personalities are distinctly different — and equally strong.

"We're two different people with two different lives," says Lori.

Reba is shorter than Lori and suffers from spina bifida. In order to move from place to place, she depends on her sister. She sits on a rolling stool and allows Lori to wheel her around.

But despite these difficulties in getting around, they often go out in public — in malls, restaurants and movies — ignoring the sometimes cruel stares of "normal" people.

Reba is gentle and artistic. She loves country music and pursues her career with single minded determination. She's played her guitar and sung on hundreds of stages nationwide.

Lori is the bolder and more outspoken of the two.

"I hate it when people tell me I'm an inspiration to them," she says. "Sometimes they even say we make them realize how small their own problems are. They assume our lives are miserable and we're bravely making the best of things.

"But they have no idea what our lives are like. It doesn't enter their minds that we could be happy. But we are."

The twins take turns supporting one another in their various pursuits. For years Reba put her own plans on hold while Lori went to college and worked as a hospital

Now it's Lori's turn to be the passive one and to sacrifice for Reba. She stands quietly by as Reba performs her music and does music-related press interviews.

There has been some talk about surgery to separate them from one another. But amazingly both the sisters feel strongly that the operation, which involves risk, would free them from constant dependence on each other. "We're very happy the way we are," and Lori. And Reba adds, "The surgery is dangerous. If one of us were to die, the other would miss her horribly. We're comfortable with our lives."

TOGETHER FOREVER: Reba, left, and Lori Schappell. Lori stands quietly by as Reba performs her music and does music-related press interviews.

THE MIRROR HAS TWO FACES: Siamese twins Lori and Reba are "very happy the way we are." Neither one is interested in surgery to separate them.

Dead millionaire shells out big bucks — to turtle!

PRESTBURY, England — An eccentric millionaire has left $75,000 to his closest pal — his pet tortoise, Big Tibby!

Bachelor businessman Ronald Dixon, who died recently at age 86, purchased the slow-moving reptile as a tiny baby back in 1941 and they became fast friends. They grew especially close in Dixon's later years, when the financial wizard became housebound — and was only spared from ending up in a nursing home thanks to the care and attention of his neighbor, Caroline Williams.

Dixon left behind most of his $1 billion-plus fortune to Williams and her family — and stashed out an additional $75,000 for her to use to take care of his beloved Big Tibby.

Now the 51-old tortoise will be able to live life to the fullest for a long time to come. "He could live another 50 years," said Mrs. Williams.

Cranky executioner curses prisoners he doesn't completely behead on first try!

TEHRAN, Iran — Cranky executioner Qasem Ali Ashtari has become the John McEnroe of behavioral disputes, hurling insults and curses at prisoners he is supposed to behead.

Ashtari, who has been executing prisoners for 15 years, has been suspended from his job after he botched the beheading of a prisoner convicted of murder.

Ashtari's victim was supposed to be executed with a single stroke of the sword, but the executioner failed to sever the head completely.

Ashtari then began hacking away at the neck with a dull sword, cursing the prisoner for moving around too much.

10 jailed — for watching couple dance the polka!

ISLAMABAD, Afghanistan — Ten men face up to three years in prison — for watching a couple dance the polka!

It's against Islamic law to dance or to watch people dancing.

The incident began when two German tourists — a man and wife — rented an apartment in the city of Kandahar. They had a tape recorder and danced around the automobile.

Police ordered citizens to turn their eyes away and most of them complied. But 10 males could not resist watching the dancing and were thrown in jail.

Rain Forest Wonder Herb Now Available in the United States Without a Prescription!

THIS JUNGLE PILL WILL CHANGE YOUR LIFE!

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — What [illegible] by many to be one of the most powerful herbs on the planet is now available in the United States without a prescription and costs just pennies a day. The rain forest herb Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is not only relied on by millions of true and grateful believers, it is [illegible] to [illegible] your life in a matter of hours, days or in truly stubborn situations, weeks, excited experts report.

Incredibly, there's more. According to Dr. Donna Schwenkenezer, author of the important book, Herbs of the Amazon, Traditional and Common Uses, Una de Gato, which means "Cat's Claw" in Spanish, is a treasured and revered component of a folk tradition that has been tested and proven over a history of medicinal use spanning hundreds of years.

"Rain forest herbs like Una de Gato clearly are among the purest and most powerful found in nature," declared Dr. Schwenkenezer. "They also are among the most thoroughly tested, having been used by the indigenous peoples of the Amazon for hundreds of years."

Dr. Schwenkenezer isn't the only expert singing the praises of Una de Gato (Cat's Claw), which is derived from the bark of a thorny vine that grows abundantly in the Amazon rain forest.

Donna Schwenkenezer

The testimonials from ordinary people who now count themselves among a growing legion of "Cat's Claw believers" are full of praises so heartfelt and sincere that they often culminate in tearful expressions of pure joy.

E.F. of Pensacola, FL, flatly states: "Before I started Cat's Claw, I was dead — DEAD! This herb gave me more than a second wind — it gave me back my life."

D.S. of Elba, AL, is equally enthusiastic. He says: "The pain in my hip [illegible] crippled me for years. Just two weeks after I started Cat's Claw, the pain is gone. I jump up off the sofa like a 16 year old!"

C.G. of Minneapolis, Ga., goes even further than that. She says: "I had gallstones for years and Cat's Claw stopped them dead in their tracks. I say to God last night and kept saying 'Thank you Lord for the Cat's Claw.' I am going on 60 jumping rope and doing exercise. Four years ago I was almost to the point I needed a walking cane or a walker."

Mind-boggling!) there's more. Lit., of Albuquerque, N.M., says: "Thanks to Donna Ambrosius and the Lord, I found this wonderful rain forest herb. It has turned me back to life!"

P.C. of Lake Worth, FL, knows the power of Cat's Claw well. He says: "I take Cat's Claw every day with a vitamin tablet and my doctor called the results of my recent physical, which included a grueling, 36-function blood test, 'spectacular.'"

"I have energy to spare and feel stronger, sharper and more alert than I did at age 30. It might sound like a joke, but I'm so convinced as a preacher when I say that with Cat's Claw on my wonderful side, I am 100 percent confident that I will serve in both areas. Cat's Claw is God's herb. There's not a doctor alive, not a medical technology available, that could make anything like this herb. Only God can make a miracle — and that's exactly what Cat's Claw is."

Breakthrough research in Europe, where doctors routinely recommend herbs and herbal therapies as patients to equally dramatic. After long and intensive study an esteemed Austrian researcher identified several important alkaloids — active ingredients — found in the Cat's Claw herb. An extract is now being used as adjunctive therapy in the treatment of severe immune disorders.

It is no secret that a strong immune system enables the body to ward off or banish diseases and conditions of every description, even the most painful, debilitating and terrifying known to man.

News of Sally's amazing ability first came to light in the Feb. 16, 1993, issue of Weekly World News.

The petite, cheerful secretary was loved by all who knew her.

She was killed when the taxi she was riding in collided with a moving van. Miss Pharian had been teaching a seminar here.

"She was so sweet and modest that when you were talking to her she could make you almost forget she was a woman of tremendous talent," said Sally's boss, Fred Baldaw.

"But when she sat down at those typewriters and started working the keys, she would take your breath away.

"Many times I would give her two separate reports to type — reports on two completely different subjects.

"She would lay the rough copies side by side, put paper in both typewriters and then let them fingers start to fly, one hand to each keyboard.

"She would have them finished before another secretary would be halfway through one of them.

"Other offices abandoned typewriters and went with computers years ago. But Sally was so fast on those portables we found it was far more efficient to let her stay with them."

Former employer Fred Baldaw.

Dr. Miguel San Lim, a Spanish brain expert, says Sally was the only person he had ever seen who could type two reports at the same time.

"In most people, the left brain controls language skills, the right controls hand-eye coordination," says Dr. San Lim. "But in Miss Pharian, both sides were capable of both activities. So in essence, she had two separate brains."

Toward the end of her short life, Sally had been suffering from neck and shoulder pain and headaches that her doctors believed were work-related.

She had been planning a long vacation but was called in to conduct a seminar on typing.

"She could never say no when people needed something," said Baldaw.

"I never knew a sweeter, kinder person."

Miss Pharian was 28.

NEWEST BOMBSHELL IN THE O.J. MURDERS . . .

NICOLE'S GRAVE IS EMPTY!

LOS ANGELES — Nicole Brown Simpson's grave is empty!

That's the shocking revelation of a secret LAPD report issued following an investigation into a series of mysterious events at the murdered woman's grave site.

"The report says that a sonar examination of the buried coffin shows the corpse of Mrs. Simpson is gone," said author Francis Wimnover of San Diego, who claims he got the report from a high-level source in the Los Angeles Police Department.

"There are signs that turf over the grave has been cut, lifted off, and then replaced. The gravestone has been chipped on one corner.

"Police have interviewed witnesses who say they observed a group of four or five people at the grave site — just two months ago. The witnesses reported they saw lots of activity around Nicole Simpson's grave for a period of two hours or so, after which the unidentified people left carrying a large object.

"Police believe that object was Nicole's corpse."

Police are trying to get permission from the bereaved Brown family to dig up Nicole's grave so they can confirm the corpse is missing, Wimnover says. But the Browns are reluctant to disturb the dead woman's grave, and until they can convince the family police are keeping the matter very hush-hush.

According to Wimnover, author of a series of books on Britain's most famous murders, cops believe Nicole's body has been taken by O.J. Simpson supporters.

They think the grave robbery may be a sinister plot by O.J. supporters to destroy evidence through cremation of Nicole's remains. Or perhaps Nicole was never buried in that grave because her family wanted to protect the body from just the type of desecration that occurred a few weeks ago. In that case, Nicole rests in peace at a secret burial site."

SCIENTIFIC TEAM CONFIRMS MIRACLE IMAGE

FACE OF JESUS APPEARS ON CHURCH WALL — & HEALS THOUSANDS!

WORSHIPPERS flock to church to see the miraculous image of Christ, shown above, and left in blowup.

A stunning image of Christ has appeared on the wall of a Sicilian church — and every day, tens of thousands of worshippers are flocking to see it!

"I was doubtful at first but now there is no question that it's the image of Jesus," said Capt. Francesco Lopesta, chief of police in the tiny town of Ciminna, where the amazing likeness has appeared every day since January 4.

Word of the miracle has spread quickly throughout Europe and believers are traveling from hundreds of miles away to stare at the vision. Scores of pilgrims swear the image has healed them of diseases and injuries.

An 11-year-old boy was the first one to see the face on the wall of Our Lady of Grace Church. He quickly dashed off to tell his parents what he'd seen.

That night villagers gathered outside the church to gaze at the wall. Since then, as more people have come to the church, the image has grown sharper and sharper.

Authorities originally tried to wash the image off the wall — but there was nothing they could do to make it fade.

"There were doubters but when we tried to remove the face it would not go away," said Father Gino Targia.

Capt. Lopesta admitted he is not normally a religious man but was deeply moved by the faith of the people who flocked to view the image.

"It's remarkable to see the pilgrims standing for hours before the wall," he said. "They kneel before it, rub their hands on it, caress it and kiss it. Many of them are overcome by emotion and break down in tears."

A team of scientists has confirmed that the image is not a hoax and was not painted or drawn on the wall. But they admitted they could not explain what caused it to appear and grow sharper. The Catholic Church has ordered an investigation. Several top officials from the Vatican have viewed the face but are refusing to speak to the press about it.

However, one high-ranking Catholic official, who asked not to be identified, said he is certain the image is the face of Christ.

"I am not supposed to voice my personal opinion but my faith tells me it is truly Christ's face," he said. "The focus of our investigation now is to determine why such a miracle has occurred. This image clearly has the potential to change the lives of everyone who comes in contact with it."
